FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NOAH CHITTY BECOMES CHAIR OF ASTM INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE ON CERAMIC WHITEWARES

Noah Chitty, Technical Director of Product Standards and Laboratory Services for the Tile Council of North America, is the chair of the American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM) International Committee on Ceramic Whitewares and Related Products (C21).

As committee chair, Mr. Chitty is responsible for more than 70 ASTM voluntary consensus standards and a committee with more than 80 members that develop standard definitions, test methods, and specifications for ceramic whitewares and related products.

In addition to Mr. Chitty's chairmanship of ASTM C21 and the subcommittee C-21.06 on Ceramic Tile, Mr. Chitty is a member of ASTM Committees D07 on Wood and F13 on Safety and Traction for Footwear. He is a member of the TCA Handbook Committee and a participant in the International Standards Organization TC-189 Working Groups 1, 2, and 3.

Mr. Chitty has been with the Tile Council of North America for six years and holds a bachelor's degree in ceramic engineering from Clemson University.
